

O'Callaghan Hotel Annapolis, MD

Enclosed is important information for your stay in Annapolis.

Please make your hotel reservations. The room block is drying up fast. The O'Callaghan staff will help direct you to other properties if the rooms available do not meet your needs. Government travelers can escape some taxes if they are using a government credit card to secure their room. Parking is across the street for $5/day in a new garage. Most of what you would want to see in Annapolis is within easy walking distance.

At the conference, there will be usual morning and afternoon breaks. Lunch is on your own. An additional document in this packet provides a list of nearby places to eat. The agenda provides an hour and a quarter to get lunch—and return.

The social begins at 1830 on Tuesday, October 19, and will be held at the Federal House Bar & Grill past the capital building and very near the waterfront at 22 Market Space. The social is Cash Bar, but hors d'oeuvres will be available. We will have a private room on the 2nd floor. Many will want to walk to this event, and shop along the water prior to the social. There is meter parking, especially on a Tuesday evening. However, we will also have access to eCruisers electric shuttle services. This is a tips-only service, and the conference has arranged for priority pick-up when the dispatcher is called. The VIP phone number will be made available at the conference.

The Army Wilks Award Banquet & Social on Wednesday begins at 1830, with the banquet portion commencing at 1930. The location will be the O'Callaghan Hotel in the conference meeting space.

Speakers, please bring a CD or other removable media with your presentation and a laptop if possible.

Annapolis is a wonderful small city, with a great history tied to the early days of our country. The Naval Academy is within walking distance, many historical landmarks are in town, and the waterfront is picturesque. If you have time at the conclusion of the conference, or if there are other members in your party not attending the conference, there are tours and boat rides that can be arranged. Enclosed are two tours from one company representative of the offerings. Other opportunities can be pursued through <http://www.visitannapolis.org/index.aspx>.

Historic Annapolis Food Tour - Our Food Tours provide a combination of history, culture, architecture and cuisine in a three hour walking tour.
